

Why the identifier drop is non-negotiable

A model that memorises a source port reports inflated accuracy, and the explainer then reports that port as the most important feature. The explanation is fluent and useless. The dhoogla release strips IPs and timestamps; this pipeline additionally drops both port columns.